1	Camp stoves	Lew and Joe conducted an experiment utilizing the current stoves (grill style) in the patrol box and the new Coleman 5444 model purchased by Scott Weil. Equal amounts of water were placed in equal sized pots and placed on each unit. The time was monitored until the first pot began to boil. The container of water on the new Coleman 5444 model stove began to boil 3x sooner than the container on the old stove. Paul Lear, the individual who had requested the evaluation, was contacted by Mark Misner and the results were discussed. The committee meeting wanted to ensure that there were no other issues of concern from Paul. The motion was then made to purchase an additional 4 stoves for the remaining patrol boxes. The motion was unanimously approved.
2	Cooking utensils in the patrol boxes	Robin Jenness presented to the group the status of the utensils in each of the patrol boxes. During the campout all of the utensils were inspected and found to be rusted, bent, melted to describe a few. The motion was made to replace all of the utensils, including the storage boxes for the utensils. The motion was unanimously approved with the stipulation for the cost not to exceed $100.00.
